DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sy (5,131,177).

See Fig. 10. Sy discloses a device comprising a section of plastic material 80 including front and back panels joined integrally along a bottom edge region of the strip and formed into an upwardly-openable pocket. It is not clear whether the side edge region at an extreme longitudinal end of the front panel with interconnection of the side edge region and the bottom edge region is substantially blended and smooth, but in other figures, Sy clearly teaches rounding all of the corner regions. Therefore, whether Sy implements that teaching in each and every embodiment or not, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to do so, in order to create a substantially snag-free transitional edge.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sy (5,131,177), as applied to claim 13, above, and further in view of Hawkins (3,218,746).

Sy discloses the invention substantially as claimed, as set forth above. However, the side edge region disclosed by Sy is generally perpendicular to the bottom edge. Hawkins teaches that it was known in the art to provide a sign holder in which the side edges form an obtuse intersection with the bottom edge. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the side edge region disclosed by Sy intersect the bottom edge at an obtuse angle, as taught by Hawkins, for aesthetic reasons.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed February 24, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that his holder is "pre-formed" into an upwardly openable pocket, whereas Sy's holder is folded by hand. Applicant further argues that Sy's holder is vacuum-formed, whereas Applicant's is formed by extrusion. However, the method of forming the device is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore, these limitations do not distinguish over the prior art.

Applicant further argues that Sy's holder is not openable once it is in position. But it is clear that Sy's holder is, indeed, openable. It simply must be removed from its operative position in order to be opened. Applicant is correct that this would make Sy's holder ill-suited for use in retail shelving applications. But the intended use of Applicant's invention is also not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
